Omelette Legend

According to legend, when Napoleon Bonaparte and his army were traveling through southern France, they decided to stop for the night near the town of Bessieres. Napoleon feasted on an omelette provided by a local innkeeper which was such a culinary delight that he ordered the townspeople to gather all of the eggs in the village and to prepare a huge omelette for his army the next day.

Our Fluffy Omeletts are made with three farm fresh eggs and are served with house made pan fried potatoes and toasted Mediterranean flat bread.
